

Leveraging The Gifts Of My Special (Negative) Emotions

Introduction

As a human being, I can consider that my Temple to be a similar high performance vehicle who's mission is to manifest heart-intentions into physical reality as fast as possible. Assuming that my body is the chassis, and my mind is the engine, then my emotional realm is my dashboard which contains wonderful guidance information about the my manifesting process.

Expected Outcomes

In the this fun interactive experience, I will re-discover that each of my emotions is communicating special information, that when I understand and respond properly, will allow me to significantly enhance my level of business and personal performance. Expected Outcomes
